Compassion Connect Overall:

- Main Compassion Connect Graphic (What if our local churches cultivated unity over division and compassion over complacency?): Hi friends, I want to share a bit about a nonprofit called Compassion Connect whose mission means a lot to me. If you've ever felt moved by the issues facing people in your neighborhood and wanted to do something to help but felt stuck, they are the ones to call! They are all about providing opportunities for individuals and churches to serve together in their own backyards. They are working toward a future where churches and individuals everywhere are choosing unity over division and compassion over complacency, and that's something I believe in! To learn more about Compassion Connect, visit their website at www.compassionconnect.com #unitingtoserve #compassioninaction
- Unity Over Division & Compassion Over Complacency: Our culture, and even our churches, often fall into the trap of division and polarization. But what if the Church focused on what we have in common (loving Jesus, loving others) so that we can make a bigger difference together than apart? Compassion Connect is all about providing opportunities for individuals and churches to serve together in their own backyards so they can address community needs that are too big for one person, church, or organization to handle alone. Learn more about their work and how you can get involved at www.compassionconnect.com! #unityoverdivision #compassionovercomplacency
- Statistic Graphic: Did you know that according to Pew Research, 4 out of 10 adults believe the Church contributes not much at all to solving the social problems of the community? Yikes! The people at Compassion Connect, a nonprofit that I care a lot about, are convinced that Christians from all backgrounds can make a difference in their neighborhoods when they serve together instead of allowing division and competition to dominate. Every person has unique skills and talents that can help change lives for Jesus. Learn more about how you can unite to serve at www.compassionconnect.com. #unitingtoserve #compassioninaction

Compassion Clinics

- Main Clinic Graphic: Hi friends, I want to share a bit about a nonprofit called Compassion Connect whose mission means a lot to me. If you've ever felt moved by the issues facing people in your neighborhood and wanted to do something to help but felt stuck, they are the ones to call! Their Compassion Clinics provide opportunities for

- Uniting for Health: Our culture, and even our churches, often fall into the trap of division and polarization. But what if the Church focused on what we have in common so that we can make a bigger difference together than apart? Compassion Connect is all about providing opportunities for individuals and churches to serve together in their own backyards so they can address community needs that are too big for one person, church, or organization to handle alone—like access to health services! Learn more about their Compassion Clinics and how you can get involved at www.compassionconnect.com/compassion-clinics! #unitingforhealth #compassionclinics
- Statistic Graphic: Millions of people live without access to affordable health care—especially dental care. Compassion Connect, an organization whose mission I care about, believes churches are in a unique position to offer their neighbors care that not only addresses bodies but also minds and spirits. Through Compassion Clinics, we can provide not only free health services, but also hope and the love of Jesus, to our neighbors who are slipping through the cracks in health care. That’s something I believe in! Learn more about their Compassion Clinics and how you can get involved at www.compassionconnect.com/compassion-clinics. #unitingforhealth #compassionclinics

Adorned In Grace

- Main Adorned In Grace Graphic: Hi friends, I want to share a bit about a nonprofit called Compassion Connect whose mission means a lot to me. If you’ve ever felt moved by the issues facing people in your neighborhood and wanted to do something to help but felt stuck, they are the ones to call! Their Adorned In Grace anti-trafficking ministry helps individuals and churches come together to fight sexual exploitation by mentoring youth, spreading awareness, and more. backyards so they can address community needs that are too big for one person, church, or organization to handle alone--like human trafficking! Learn more about their Adorned In Grace anti-trafficking ministry and how you can get involved at www.compassionconnect.com/work/#aig #unitingforfreedom #adornedingrace

- Statistic Graphic: Did you know that human trafficking isn't something that just happens overseas? It is estimated that hundreds of thousands of people in the United States are sexually exploited each year, and many of these are children. The statistics are sobering, but they are not the end of the story. Compassion Connect, an organization whose mission I care about, has an anti-trafficking ministry called Adorned In Grace that rallies individuals and churches together to fight exploitation through prevention and awareness. That's something I believe in! Learn more about Compassion Connect's anti-trafficking work and how you can get involved at www.compassionconnect.com/work/#aig. #unitingforfreedom #adornedingrace
